BERLIN ADVICES SAY FRENCH WILL BE EASIER TO WHIP THAN THE BELGIANS

POPE SHATTERS ANOTHER CUSTOM

INSTEAD OF BODY BEING KEPT FROM VIEW OF ALL BUT NOBILITY FOR THREE DAYS, IT IS REMOVED TO CHAPEL

ROME, Aug. 21.—The body of the late Pope Pius X. was this morning removed from the Vatican throne room to the Chapel of Sacraments in St. Peter's. This violates tradition and establishes a precedent, but the pope said he did not want his remains to be in the throne room three days for the exclusive visits of the privileged class, nobility, etc., and instead wanted it exposed in St. Peter's for rich and poor alike.

The tradition that the pope's feet be exposed for thousands to kiss was also shattered by Pius. He requested that this not be done.

Czar and French President Together Just Before War

This photograph of president Poincaré of France and Czar Nicholas of Russia together just before war was declared on Serbia by Austria indicates to many that their meeting was not a mere interchange of pleasantries. It is one of the many incidents which indicate the rulers of Europe knew something tremendous was impending. To many European politicians it now seems that the czar and the president felt there was trouble, and the visit was due to their desire to cement the Triple Entente before the outbreak. Earlier in the year the French president had visited England, the other member of the Triple Entente. It may have been on the same mission. At any rate the coincidence of the meeting of the rulers of the nations making up the Triple Entente just before the war is very interesting. The photograph shows the czar and his guest reviewing a regiment in St. Petersburg.

Expect Two Chinas to Follow the Break

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21.—That China will split into two separate countries is the growing conviction here among men in close touch with the republic's politics.

That there is about to be a successful revolution in the provinces south of the Yangtsze, those judges of the situation declared was certain.

The revolutionary movement was said to be practically unanimous, even though President Yuan Shi Kai might win a border battle or two, should he try to prevent Southern China's secession from the north. It was pointed out that it would be hopeless for him to attempt to subdue a territory half the size of the United States, with a population approaching 200,000,000, solidly united against him.

It was agreed, on the other hand, that the north showed no such disposition for popular government as the south, and it was admitted that it would be as impossible for the south to beat the north on its own ground as it would be for the north to hold the south against its will.

The southern leaders proposed a republic, with land on something like a single tax basis, and the state in control of most of the great utilities. They plan railroad building, the establishment of free schools, and as rapid development as possible by the Chinese of the country's latent resources.
